Discovery Exhibits

Since 2014, ATD Fourth World has been working together with students, teachers and local artists to design and build interactive exhibits that engage children's learning and develop their awareness of the rich scientific heritage of New Mexico. These mobile Discovery Exhibits are then made available to public schools, libraries, and community centers throughout the region. Two exhibits are currently available: Dinosaur Adventure and Space Adventure.

Parent Organization

ATD Fourth World Movement

ATD Fourth World strives to develop meaningful opportunities for the rural populations of Northwestern NM. We actively participate in cross-sector coalitions and collaborative projects with both established stakeholders and everyday community members. Together with these partners, we create innovative opportunities related to youth and adult education, the arts, technical skills, and meaningful service learning for community members from all walks of life.
