Boy Scouts of America - Conquistador Council

Conquistador Council is a local council chartered by the Boy Scouts of America in southeastern New Mexico to administer Scouting programs that build character, train our young people in the responsibilities of participatory citizenship, as well as develop personal fitness.

From its headquarters in Roswell, the Conquistador Council is divided into five geographical districts: Chisum Trail (Eddy County), El Llano Grande (Curry, Roosevelt and DeBaca counties), Oil Patch (Lea County), Rio Hondo (Chaves County) and Sierra Blanca (Lincoln County). All of these districts are dedicated to the advancement of Scouting in their local communities.
