Capacity For Change Project (CfC)

CfC is a comprehensive program that, when fully implemented, will serve the Navajo Nation by strengthening the many tribal nonprofits operating on the reservation upon which the Navajo people so heavily rely. Under the CfC initiative, we provide capacity building training, partnership building, and sustainability assistance in all areas of nonprofit growth and operations. By building capacity and leveraging strengths among nonprofits that work on the ground, day to day, family to family – we are seeing change already happening. CfC serves some of the neediest nonprofits in the world as we take a comprehensive approach to capacity building. From strategic planning, quality improvement, and initiative implementation support – to helping our nonprofits with budgeting, program evaluation, and leadership development, CfC is designed to transition local providers from subsistence to success.
