

SHARE new mexico™

Research and Program Development

SWCHI is dedicated to advancing public health practice and making systemic improvements in population health. SWCHI drives the kind of improvements that impact the health outcomes of groups (as opposed to just individuals) and help all people to access the conditions and resources they need to live healthy, happy lives. With organizational and technical support from the SWCHI, partners, communities and other initiatives will be better equipped to collect and use public health data, implement and monitor evidence-based public health programs, and, ultimately, save lives and money.

Details

Ages: All ages

Genders: All

Contact: Alisha Herrick

Contact Email: aherrick@swchi.org

Services

Public Health Research

Locations

Southwest Center for Health Innovation

*301 West College Ave. Suite 16
Silver City, NM 88061*

Phone: (575) 534-0101

Parent Organization

Center for Health Innovation

The Center for Health Innovation (CHI) is a non-profit organization focusing on community health. Our mission is to develop and implement policies, strategies and models in underserved and underrepresented populations at local, state and national levels to improve quality of life, health status and equity.

11587 HWY 180 E
Silver City, NM 88061

Mailing:

11587 HWY 180 E
Silver City, NM 88061

Phone: (181) 376-7575

Email: jtumposky@gmail.com

Primary Contact: Francesca Regina

Contact Email: fregina@chi-phi.org

Type: Nonprofit

EIN: 47-2498200

<http://chi-phi.org/>