Civic Engagement

CivNet is a new online social network for community organizing and civic engagement that helps people make an impact on issues they care about. It does this by helping them understand what's going on in their communities, connect with others who care about similar issues, find opportunities to get involved, and organize to take action. CivNet recently released its beta platform in Albuquerque, NM and the surrounding area. CivNet has over 850 active beta users including community members and leaders, non-profit staff, and government officials. You can create a CivNet account at beta.civnet.co or learn more at splash.civnet.co . If you would like to have CivNet present to a community group or chat with its founder, email charlie@civnet.co.

Details

Services

Community Economic Development   Volunteering   Community Action/Social Advocacy Groups

---

Locations

Parent Organization

CivNet

CivNet is a new online social network for community organizing and civic engagement that helps people make an impact on issues they care about. It does this by helping them understand what's going on in their communities, connect with others who care about similar issues, find opportunities to get involved, and organize to take action. CivNet recently released its beta platform in Albuquerque, NM and the surrounding area. CivNet has over 850 active beta users including community members and leaders, non-profit staff, and government officials. You can create a CivNet account at beta.civnet.co or learn more at splash.civnet.co . If you would like to have CivNet present to a community group or chat with its founder, email charlie@civnet.co.

1319 Marble Ave. NW
Albuquerque, NM 87104

Phone: 9085910192
Email: charlie@civnet.co
Primary Contact: Charlie Wisoff
http://www.civnet.co