

SHARE new mexico™

Libraries as Launchpads

We know all communities harbor creative talent that can translate into economic success and stronger, more resilient communities. The Libraries as Launchpads program equips libraries in rural, urban, and tribal communities with the resources entrepreneurs need to build innovative businesses that can bring economic expansion and quality employment to the local community.

Launched in 2018 in partnership with the New Mexico State Library and public libraries across the state, Creative Startups today serves entrepreneurs through an online portal as well as "in library" workshops.

Details

Ages: Adults

Races: All

Genders: All

Intake Process: Online Application

Payment Options: Free

Minimum Age: 16

Contact: Ginny Sterpka

Contact Email: ginny@creativestartups.org

Services

Community Economic Development

Locations

New Mexico

*341 E Alameda St
Santa Fe, NM 87501*

Phone: (505) 236-5180

Languages Spoken: English Spanish

Services Limited By Geography: Participating libraries

Parent Organization

Creative Startups

Based in Santa Fe, Creative Startups is the only global accelerator for creative entrepreneurs. Our mission is to accelerate creative entrepreneurs, build the creative economy. We provide guidance and opportunity for founders who are revolutionizing the creative tech and storytelling, health and wellness, and food/food tech sectors. We understand that the creative economy is a global economic wave. We are singular in our ability to identify creative founders driven to build a profitable company while also retaining an uncompromising commitment to their creative vision. We guide them from seed stage to market success.

*341 E Alameda St
Santa Fe, NM 87501
NM*

Phone: (505) 236-5180

Primary Contact: Alice Loy

Contact Email: info@creativestartups.org

Type: Nonprofit

EIN: 26-0718018

<http://www.creativestartups.org>