

Family and Child Education (F.A.C.E.)

F.A.C.E. is a family literacy program which allows parents to increase their skills so that they may obtain their GED or prepare them to further their education in college, while their children learn in a near by classroom. Parents learn how to work with their children to prepare them for Kindergarten. Children learn how to work together to make wise choices, solve problems, follow directions and many other skills that will help them be good students. The native culture and language are essential components of the learning environment, teaching practices and curriculum.

Offering center-based adult education, center-based early childhood classroom, and home visits providing child development and parenting information.
