The Food Depot

The Food Depot, Northern New Mexico's food bank, collects food from national, state and local sources and provides these donations to hungry New Mexicans through more than 145 partner agencies in nine counties. To make a food donation, drop off non-perishable food items at The Food Depot Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. There is a barrel located in our lobby for smaller bags of donated food. If you have a larger quantity of food, a staff person will be happy to assist you.

For distribution locations, please follow this link: <https://thefooddepot.org/food-assistance/>

Please note: During the COVID-19 public health crisis, The Food Depot is not accepting food donations or encouraging food drives.
