Four Bridges Traveling Permaculture Institute

Four Bridges Traveling Permaculture Institute is developing projects to support indigenous communities around the globe. We help communities become more sustainable through organic farming practices, seed saving, education in traditional foods and medicines, and developing markets for their surplus crops, and value added products, while helping them maintain or return to their traditional cultural lifestyles. A major event that we co-sponsor with other organizations is our annual Traditional Agriculture & Sustainable Living Conference, held at Northern New Mexico College in Espanola, New Mexico.

Parent Organization

Four Bridges Traveling Permaculture Institute

Four Bridges Traveling Permaculture Institute was established to address the needs of indigenous communities around the globe. In essence our “four bridges” reach out in all directions to establish a network of people to address global issues in all of our communities. We are accomplishing this by first addressing the poverty, and lack of healthy sustainable living practices in these communities. We are a diverse group of people dedicated in preserving and sharing our cultures and restoring a healthy way of life through a collective effort of farmers, educators, healers, youth, elders, and spiritual leaders.
