Four Corners Detox Recovery Center

The Detox Program operates 24/7 for the purposes of providing safe, monitored and managed detox treatment. The typical stay is 3-7 days. The Registered Nurses and Medical Technicians are the primary caregivers to Detox Program clients. A physician or physician assistant works with Detox Program clients to provide medication management services. Additionally, the program strives to develop and maintain a rich network of treatment providers for referral after completion of the program to ensure the best possible match for the persons served to ongoing treatment services. A detoxification/withdrawal management program may be provided in the following settings: Inpatient, Residential or Ambulatory.

Typical length of stay is 3-10 days. Upon successful completion of detox clients can transition to the residential program. In residential clients receive 8-12 hours of activities per day to anchor long term sobriety. These activities include one-on-one and group meetings with case managers and counselors, personal development groups, and traditional healing.

If individuals decide to leave, the staff will perform a referral assessment to provide case management services and referrals to meet a client's immediate needs and inform them of SFRC levels of care in case they choose to seek services in the future.
