Frontline Resurrection with Krossroads Behavioral Health, CCSS

Frontline Resurrection with Krossroads Behavioral Health is partnered together to bring behavioral health services to women. Frontline provides faith based transitional housing to women in reentry from the judicial system, addiction, homelessness and trauma. You do not need to be housed with Frontline to access our behavioral health referral to Krossroads and to start working with a multi-disciplinary team which will allow you to access; Counseling, Equine therapy at our Recovery Ranch, Intensive Outpatient Program, MAT treatment, medication management, Community Support Workers and Certified Peer Support workers and more. Give us a call. We want to walk alongside of you in this journey of life recovery.

Frontline Resurrection Life Recovery

Frontline Resurrection Life Recovery Home (FLR), a 501-C3 Non-Profit, is focused on providing a safe and sober living home environment that will allow women to heal from trauma, addiction, incarceration and other life disturbances. The vision of FLR is to empower women to reestablish themselves in their community through biblical teaching, counseling, education, employment, and community engagement opportunities. FLR will also mentor these women and work with them through the peer support model in hand with community support work. We will teach them the necessary life skills and resource navigation that will strengthen their self-efficacy and will give them the courage to rebuild their lives, reclaim their dreams and live victoriously.
