Innovate One to One

In order to be successful in the global economy and workplace, students need to learn how to effectively communicate and collaborate with those from different cultures and countries. Innovate One to One provides students with state of the art programming as they develop these skills while working together on STEM projects.

A select group of students in the US have the opportunity to collaborate with a group of their peers in different countries as they plan, design, and create a functioning robotics project that helps address an important need in society. At the end of the school year, students have the option to showcase their projects at the International RoboRAVE in Albuquerque, NM, with students from all around the world.

Innovate One to One is collaborative programming offered by Inquiry Facilitators, Inc. and Global One to One.
