

SHARE new mexico™

Human Systems Research

The goals of the corporation include stewardship and preservation of related resources through public education as a method of preserving and protecting limited cultural resources through increased public appreciation. Educational programs include: 1) HSR Quarterly Lecture series that is free and open to the public; 2) Field trips and tours to local areas of historic interest; 3) Opportunities to become a volunteer participating in archaeological field surveys and/or excavations and laboratory work; 4) New Mexico SiteWatch Program-a volunteer monitoring program coordinated by the New Mexico Historic Preservation Division matching local residents with nearby archaeological sites to prevent vandalism and monitor natural events.

Details

Services

Arts & Culture Education Environmental Protection & Improvement

Locations

*PO Box 728
Las Cruces, NM 88004-0728*

Phone: 575-524-9456

Parent Organization

Human Systems Research

HSR is a private, nonprofit corporation dedicated to the pursuit of anthropological research through cultural resource management, historic preservation, oral history, and environmental conservation. The geographic focus of research is the Southwest with a central focus on southern New Mexico.

*PO Box 728
Las Cruces, NM 88004-0728*

Phone: 575-524-9456

EIN: 850218909

<http://humansystemsresearch.org/>