

SHARE new mexico™

Food & Farm Apprentice program

engages youth and young adults in long-term mentorship, education, and skills development. Potential Apprentices must first successfully complete a session of Raíces de Tradición y Salud before applying for an apprenticeship. We host 2 to 4 apprentices at any given time, based on interest, staff capacity, and the availability of funding. Current and past apprentices have assisted with farm production, coordinated produce sales at area farmers' markets, and helped develop value-added farm products. Apprentices also receive public health education, business and marketing education, and life skills training. Apprentices are provided ample opportunity to develop entrepreneurial and leadership skills, pursue their own special research project, engage with community experts and professionals, and are provided a stipend to support their efforts.

Details

Ages: Teen Adults

Restrictions: Potential Apprentices must first successfully complete a session of Raíces de Tradición y Salud before applying for an apprenticeship.

Services

Food

Locations

La Semilla Community Farm

*350 Our Way Road
Anthony, NM 88021*

Mailing:

PO Box 2579

Anthony, NM 88021

Phone: 575-882-2393

Parent Organization

La Semilla Food Center

La Semilla Food Center's mission is to build a healthy, self-reliant, fair, and sustainable food system in the Paso del Norte region of southern New Mexico and El Paso, Texas. We work with children, youth, and families to build awareness around food issues, provide informed analysis, and create alternatives for healthier environments and communities.

*101 E Joy Drive
Anthony, NM 88021*

Phone: (575) 882-2393

Email: info@lasemillafoodcenter.org

Primary Contact: Beverly Longoria or Aaron Sharatt

Contact Email: info@lasemillafoodcenter.org

Type: Nonprofit

EIN: 272486484