Mcbride Foundation-the College Bound Program

The program partners college students with 5th grade classrooms. The college students set up a 6 week program from a manual supplied by McBride. The college students talk to the students about college, give a tour of their college, assess opinions about college from the students, and reward the 5th graders after completion of the program with lunch and a certificate. The college students find sponsors for the program. The ultimate goal is to reduce teen dropout rate, and increase the number of children who continue to a higher education.
