Morrison Associates

Morrison Associates offers a client-centered, participatory approach to program planning, development, and evaluation through the creation of a genuine relationship between the evaluation and the program; a deep understanding of the program's worth and the need to document the value of the program through systematic evaluation and intentional learning; and a clear connection between the data being collected and the benefits to the program and community. The result? Programs and organizations transforming their services and clearly demonstrating their impact through the communication of results in actionable and meaningful ways.
