National Multiple Sclerosis Society - NM

There is no physical office in New Mexico, but you there are several support groups throughout New Mexico. Individuals with MS and their family members, as well as social workers, caregivers and healthcare personnel can contact an MS Navigator directly with any questions about MS by calling the national MS Society number: 1-800-344-4867. Ask if there is a self-help (support group) in your area. The National Multiple Sclerosis Society also offers a limited Financial Assistance Program. Parent Organization

National Multiple Sclerosis Society - Arizona/New Mexico

The National MS Society works to improve the quality of life for people affected by MS and raise funds for critical MS research. The goal is to assist in maintaining personal health, safety and independence for people with MS during extraordinary circumstances. We provide programs and services to people living with Multiple Sclerosis, their friends and families. We offer many services including information and referral, direct services, limited direct financial assistance, education on MS via teleconference and webinar, and education to health care professionals. We also have a robust advocacy effort both federal and state level.
