NAVA Education Project

Our mission is to unite community stakeholders to actively improve the quality of life for Native American communities and protect the continuity of Native American cultures. We promote awareness and action on issues facing Native American communities through community organizing and education strategies. We are committed to social, economic and environmental justice principles that advance healthy and sustainable communities for Native families living in New Mexico.

We seek to ensure fairness while creating opportunities for Native American families to succeed in both our traditional and contemporary world. Join us as we build a secure and healthy future for Native American people living in New Mexico!
