

SHARE new mexico™

NM Agriculture in the Classroom

Through education, NMAITC strives to foster in students an appreciation of our farmers and ranchers and an understanding of the importance agriculture plays in our everyday lives. The website has an array of teaching resources, including curricula geared toward social studies, science, and nutrition. You will find great ideas for science fairs and possible field trips, including many virtual field trips available. Request classroom presentations.

Details

Ages: Children and Youth Teen

Contact: Britney Lardner

Contact Email: agclass1@nmflb.org

Services

Educational Programs

Locations

2220 N Telshor Las Cruces, NM 88011

Las Cruces, NM 87011

Phone: (575) 532-4714

Parent Organization

New Mexico Agriculture in the Classroom

New Mexico Agriculture in the Classroom (NMAITC) is a non-profit educational outreach program funded primarily by the membership of the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau. The purpose of NMAITC is to educate the general public, with an emphasis on K-12 students and educators, about the importance of agriculture.

2220 N Telshor Las Cruces, NM 88011

Las Cruces, NM 87011

Phone: (575) 532-4714

<http://newmexico.agclassroom.org>