Parent Organization

New Mexico Mining Act Network

NMMAN is a nationally recognized collaborative effort to implement and strengthen the mine permitting and reclamation requirements of the New Mexico Mining Act. The NM Mining Act passed in 1993 regulated pollution and requires financial assurance for mine clean up. NMMAN's mission is to be a statewide advocate for: restoration of community land and water affected by mining; enforcement of the NM Mining Act and of relevant water quality and quantity laws; and promotion of economic alternatives for mining-impacted communities. While GRIP and Amigos Bravos take the lead on particular projects, they regularly collaborate across issues.
