New Mexico Poison Control

The New Mexico Poison and Drug Information Center provides two telephone-based services. First, we offer a poison information line. On the poison information line, our pharmacists give patients top-quality, personalized treatment advice. Most of the time, our specialists are able to successfully manage poisonings without patients having to leave the comfort of their own home.

Second, we are one of the few poison centers in the nation that also offers a drug information line. On the drug information line, our pharmacists provide accurate information about medications, such as pill identifications and drug interactions.

Both the poison and drug information lines are at the same toll-free number:

1-800-222-1222.
