PTSD Treatment

Dealing with post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) is not easy. As the leading statewide service provider, we can help you manage these feelings. We understand how difficult it is to open up to others. We have a professional team of clinicians that are trained in trauma-informed care, and provide quality interventions for those struggling with PTSD. In-person sessions are offered at our physical locations and virtual services are available statewide.

Several techniques are used to help alleviate and overcome PTSD. Cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT) is among the effective types of counseling used for PTSD treatment. Pinwheel's team is trained in multiple evidence-based practices to treat trauma. This includes EMDR, EFT, and mindfulness-based cognitive therapy, amongst others depending on specific therapists' specializations.
