Forest Health

The San Juan National Forest faces complex challenges including increasingly severe insect and disease outbreaks, greater frequency of severe wildfires, and a drying and warming climate. To address these issues, the Alliance partners with multiple stakeholders to encourage and support management decisions that promote forest resiliency, which we define as healthy, vibrant forests.

Parent Organization

San Juan Citizens Alliance

San Juan Citizens Alliance advocates for clean air, pure water, and healthy lands -- the foundations of resilient communities, ecosystems and economies in the San Juan Basin. In addition to working in both Colorado and New Mexico, we have long-standing partnerships with Navajo Nation advocates as members of the Nation often experience the brunt of climate and health impacts from the overwhelming amount of fossil fuel development in the Four Corners.
