Santa Fe Botanical Garden Internships

Programs for children through SF Public Schools focus on NM science standards, conducted primarily at our wetland preserve. Program for families and adults focus on horticulture, habitat preservation and stewardship, water conservation, and ethnobotany. Programming currently under development for the new botanical garden will focus on telling the story of the history of Northern New Mexico through the plants that grow here.

We offer internships for middle through college students interested in nonprofit management, education, horticulture, and botany.

STEM, Gardening, Career Exploration, Botany, Education.
