Santa Fe Concert Association dba Performance Santa Fe

Performance Santa Fe (PSF) presents world-class music, dance, and theater artists in concert and offers free education programs to thousands of local students. PSF, which recently celebrated its 80th anniversary season, is New Mexico's oldest performing arts organization, and brings an average of 20 performing artists to Santa Fe over a 10-month season. Education programs include Bravo!Kids, which provides in-school or in-theater artist-student interactive concerts and master classes; the Sostenuto Program, which brings professional community musicians into Santa Fe Public Schools (SFPS) for ensemble mentoring, evaluation, and coaching; annual arts management internships; and SFPS On Stage, which gives selected choral, band, and orchestral students from SFPS the opportunity to perform a collaborative concert at the Lensic Performing Arts Center.
