Education and Community Wellness

In New Mexico, we offer education and leadership services through innovative classes and workshops that empower women and girls to be socially conscious leaders and agents of change in their lives and communities. Our classes which teach anything from financial literacy to transformation as a way of life-integrate mind, body, spirit and emotional body and stem from a therapeutic foundation. These classes serve a range of women in the community bringing together women from different walks of life to share their wisdom and experience and tap into their common ground.

Additionally we serve partner organizations, educators, clergy and health workers with our services to support self-care and sustainability in the workplace.
