Wilderwood Equine Therapy Curriculum

Wilderwood's program helps autistic people succeed and live strong, fulfilling, and independent lives. The program comprises a 9-month curriculum designed to assist autistic teens and adults to:

- develop independent life skills;
- achieve career and employment goals; and
- better navigate the neurotypical world while remaining true to their autistic selves.

Please note: In keeping with the preference of the actually autistic community, we use and prefer the term "autistic person" rather than "person with autism," and do not engage in any work performed under the auspices of ABA therapy.

Parent Organization

Wilderwood Equine Therapy and Rescue

Wilderwood's equine-assisted curriculum is designed for autistic teens and adults to strengthen self-perception and self-possibility; achieve career and employment goals; and embrace and celebrate the innate connection between horses and autistics. Wilderwood also rescues unwanted horses, provides them a lifetime loving home, and educates the community about horses and autism.
